SkyTrails LSA - the new home of the PREDATOR Powered Parachuting services is located at Wharton Airport. And Wharton Airport is located just about 4-miles south of Wharton, Texas on Interstate 59; between Houston, TX (about 60-miles southwest of Houston) and Victoria, TX (about 50-miles northeast of Victoria).

From Houston: Wharton Airport is about a 40-minute drive, south on Hwy-59, from Sugar Land. Wharton city has three exits, go south, past all three exits. Once past the last Wharton Exit, you will soon see (less than 1-mile) the Chevron Gas Station & "JR's Smokehouse" on the right and "Carroll's Gun shop" on the left. Now, just past these businesses are two highway crossover's (on the left side of the road) one right after the other. The second left turn area is for the Wharton Regional Airport. Turn left and cross the highway just pass the "Wharton Airport" sign (on the left) the street sign will say Robert Vonderau Dr. (Please now skip to the "Once at the Airport" paragraph below...)

From Victoria: Going northeast on Hwy-59 from Victoria, Wharton Airport is about 8-miles northeast of El Campo, Texas. The "Mac Kay" sign on the right of the highway will let you will know that you are getting close to Wharton Airport.

You will see the Airstrip and Blue hangers on your right. There is a shoulder on Hwy-59 that is wide enough to use as a right turn lane to help you get out of the way of highway traffic while you slow down to make the turn.

Once at the Airport:

The airport road turns left just past the immediate oil well, on your left, and then immediately turns right. If you follow this southbound road all the way to the end (about $\frac{1}{4}$ mile, to the last set of Hangars (Hangars #29, 30, 31 & 32), you will find the place where SkyTrails is flying, training & servicing Powered Parachutes, as well as manufacturing the top-award winning PREDATOR Powered Parachute. Our grass flight field is on the back side (the south side) of the Hangar complex.

WELCOME to our flying 'magic-carpet' world!
